NSF* approved Cleanability

*A product that has been put through rigorous testing and meets the NSF standards for approval receives the seal to be placed on the product. The NSF seal is generally accepted by county health departments. Products are repeatedly tested year after year to ensure that they are still meeting the standards.

Rounded-Tip Blades [SKB-2S-R]

DESIGN OBJECTIVE

The bonus rounded tip blades reduce injuries, damage to content, and the risk of contamination from broken tips.

The spring-activated blade self-retracts with the release of the blade slide. The powerful stainless-steel spring maintains blade tension to cut with confidence. Flush vents coupled with a simple design make this cutter easy to clean and sanitize.

! Metal Detector is NOT always perfect: Detecting ability also differs depending on the machine and/or category of food being detected.

TARGET MARKET & MARKET TRENDS

The NSF-certified SK-12 is 100% made of magnetic stainless-steel that is detectable with metal detectors.

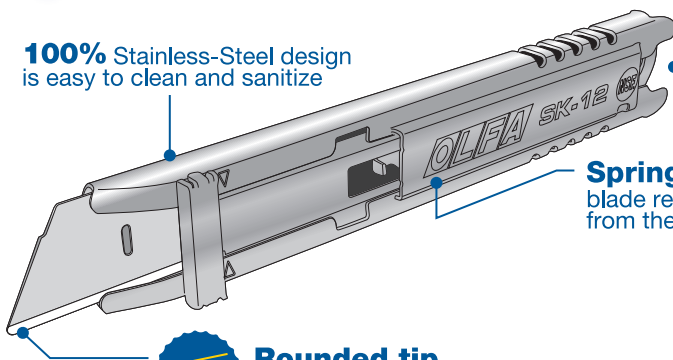

The OLFA SK-12 Stainless-Steel Self-Retracting Safety Cutter is a must-have in food processing locations. Magnetic stainless-steel is the best possible choice to strike a balance between washability and metal detectability.

! The SK-12 is not designed for cutting food itself.
